

The College of Fellows Mission Statement

The College of Fellows supports EURAM's mission of open, evolving and engaged scholarship contributing to research and education, and in turn, to practice in management, aiming at social responsibility and excellence. In a complex world of organizations encountering multiple challenges with unknown directions, the College advises the Board and Executive Committee, either on request or by its own initiative. If endorsed by the College, the Fellows, collectively, in teams, or individually, can be called on to mediate, support, advise and guide.

Some examples of such support activity include the following:

High priority areas such as:

- Publishing debates and position papers, as a mean of intellectual contribution, on the state of management/business education, research and practice, their desirable future and EURAM's potential role in this context.
- Participating in EURAM's strategic reflection.
- Strategic and outward looking: Contributing to identify grand societal challenges and call upon EURAM's capacities to address them.
- Internal ...Clarifying and amplifying what EURAM could do to address a variety of issues facing the management research community (e.g. open science, ethical committees in universities, job market and career in management academia, the role of DBAs or other issues related to PhDs, etc.)
- Facilitating inclusive professional development of early career scholars by participating in broad activities of EURAM, namely mentoring for, and contributing to, Doctoral Accelerator, Doctoral Colloquium and/ or the EEEEC as well as responding to individual demands, to add inclusive dimension, in order to facilitate careers of young scholars sharing EURAM's values.

In addition to the aforementioned high priority areas, the following could be other activities through which the Fellows support the EURAM community:

- Contributing to practice to advance responsible and sustainable solutions: responsible managerial practice/responsible managerial implications (sustainability pillars)
- Contributing to policy making
- Mobilizing the College's academic, political, media and practitioner networks to serve EURAM missions
- Collaborating with other learned societies
