

Guidance for EURAM 2026 Reviewers

Dear EURAM 2026 Reviewer,

Thank you for your ongoing contributions to our scholarly community. We recognize that time constraints and other commitments may limit your ability to participate in peer review. However, as you know, the peer review process depends on mutual involvement — authors and reviewers collaborating to maintain the quality and integrity of our field.

We kindly encourage you to consider reviewing when possible. Your expertise is invaluable, and your participation helps ensure a fair and rigorous process for all. Even a small number of reviews each year makes a meaningful difference.

Your active engagement sustains EURAM in its commitment to:

- Preserve the unique EURAM spirit, characterised by a strong sense of community, high-quality interactions, and a dedicated support for junior scholars.
- Foster inclusivity and benevolence, with no restrictions, and promote cohesion and integration across all members.
- Encourage diversity in gender, nationality, discipline, and all other dimensions.

In addition to these values, EURAM also formally recognises the efforts of its reviewers:

- A personalised certificate acknowledging your peer review contributions.
- A 500€ award for the best reviewer, celebrated at the Conference's Award ceremony.

Peer review only works when we all participate. Declining to examine assigned papers without a valid justification undermines the reciprocity principle.

Observed uncooperative behaviour may lead to restricted or no access to reviewers' comments on your papers.

Essentially, participating in the review process is both a professional obligation duty and a chance to support the EURAM community while earning recognition for your contributions.

We appreciate your dedication to maintaining EURAM's reputation for rigorous and supportive peer review.
